Describe your education and training, employment history, and volunteer work related to this position. Include applicable experience with civic, professional, or volunteer organizations and other city boards and commissions, including any awards or special recognition:

For the past 20 years, I've worked in public health programming at the federal, state, and private sectors. My primary roles included designing, implementing, and evaluating public health programs in the U.S. and across the globe. I'm currently the international health program officer for a private foundation in the Twin Cities area, managing a diverse portfolio of health grants in five countries. From 2019-2023, I was the Maternal and Child Health section manager at the Minnesota Department of Health where I led a team overseeing myriad of federal and state programs aimed at improving health for adolescents, pregnant people, infants, children, and those of reproductive age. I also spent 10 years with the United States Agency for International Development as a senior technical advisor for maternal health activities. I hold a masters degree in public health from Emory University. Prior service on Minnesota state task forces include the State Advisory Council on Early Child Education and Care and the Great Start for All Minnesota Children Task Force.
